

HAYS

SPECIALISED RECRUITING EXPERT

TRANSFORM LIVES & BUSINESS IMPACT ON THE WORLD OF WORK

Your new company

A recruiting career with Hays is like no other; we play a unique role in the global world of work. We are the world's leading recruiting experts in connecting qualified, professional and skilled people. Our expertise across a wide range of specialised industries and professions enables us to bring the right person together with the right job.

Your new role

To continue to deliver a world-class service we are offering great opportunities for exceptional talents to join and develop with us in our recruitment business. We employ people from a wide range of background such as engineers, accountants, lawyers and sales people just to name a few. They all have one thing in common; the energy and passion to power the world of work.

What you will need to succeed

You will be supporting our Managers to source the most suitable candidates for worldwide top organisations. To be successful, you'll need to be an individual who is:

- Ambitious and driven to succeed.
- Thrive under pressure and respond proactively and positively to targets.
- Passionate about people
- Inquisitive, wanting to understand more about people and businesses.
- Bilingual (English and Cantonese) and previous commercial or sales experience is an advantage.

What you'll get in return

You will gain extensive exposure about recruitment business by learning from the best Consultants in the industry. Reward is guaranteed upon success with our meritocracy culture at Hays. Your ambition will be complemented with fast-track career opportunities. We will also invest in you to ensure you are well-equipped with the required know-how to become a recruiting expert.
