CryptoBLK is a Hong Kong based startup focusing in financial technologies development, and we are committed to make a global impact through developing Blockchain systems especially for the Financial Services Industry.

We are a group of Blockchain developers with the mission of becoming a world-leading Blockchain technology company to develop and deploy Blockchain systems which can revolutionize the IT systems using Cryptography and DLT technologies.

Project Internship (Fresh Grad Welcome)
Reference: CTO/DLT/PI/a-b

Job Responsibilities

- Assist in Distributed Ledger Technology (Blockchain) project as assigned
- Perform backend and front-end development for DLT applications
- Conduct testing on DLT systems

Requirements

- Graduate with a first-degree in computer science from a local university in Hong Kong
- Successfully completed the undergraduate or postgraduate program
- Solid knowledge of Java and object-oriented programming
- Good understanding of data structure and algorithm
- Passionate about learning new technologies
- Excellent communication skills with can-do attitude

Application

Appointment will be on contract terms with attractive salary. Fridge benefit includes paid leaves and contribution of MPF. Incumbent will work under five-day week schedule in a friendly and dynamic working environment. Great opportunity to work on the emerging technologies.

Interested candidates should send application (quoting reference number) with detailed resume to HR department by email to jobs@cryptoblk.io.

Only short-listed candidates will be notified. Personal data provided by applicants will be used for recruitment purposes only.