Company Information :	At Nielsen , our obsession with understanding consumer behavior through technology is what motivates us. To us, innovation isn't random – it's a result of encouraging each other to develop new ideas and technologies and then, challenging ourselves to push even further. Working together across functions, our Software Developers research and discover new opportunities, and shape products to fulfill them. We are looking for enthusiastic and talented individuals from all academic backgrounds for fresh graduate positions starting throughout 2020. People who approach their work from diverse perspectives. People who are not afraid to ask tough questions. People with diverse skill sets. We have three different types of role in Nielsen for our 2020 fresh graduates. You can apply for the one which best suits your interests and career inspiration.
